FXFOWLE Architects has designed an 18-story luxury residential condo on Manhattan's Upper East Side for Alchemy Properties. Billed as a "family-friendly" building, Isis Condominium will contain 31 two-, two-plus den, and three-bedroom residences — two units per floor and four penthouses. Resting on a six-story base, the façade features a greenish-gray mosaic made by Trespa. The project is currently under construction with an expected completion date in July 2009.
